cycles repeating - the earth is speaking saying time has come to wake up from this nightmare of lies so many shattered lives reaching out... crying

crying out for freedom crying out for love carried by the current 'til we stand side by side on the brink of a brand new dawn

we come together while the waters rise there's a stirring... what on earth does it take to thrive?

while we've been sleeping our hearts were beating so much closer than we ever knew beneath the noise there's an inner voice whispering clear and true the veils are finally lifting a way's becoming clear there's a dream without a limit and a vision so strong every person knows they belong

there's a stirring... deep inside... deep inside we come together to stand up for our lives what on earth does it take to...

thrive
out in the open
healing what's broken every heart... every life claiming our place in it now

there's a stirring... deep inside... deep inside
we all have what it takes to thrive
we come together while the waters rise
there's a stirring... deep inside... deep inside
we all have what it takes to thrive!
